

Professor Kathy Jaremki is a welcome new addition to TheaterCNU. The breadth and depth of experience she brings to the classroom and production is second to none. Professor Jaremki received her BA/Fine Arts from Indiana University and her MFA from Indiana University in Costume Design and Construction. Professor Jaremki has been teaching at the college level Allentown College and Ball Stage for more than 20 years. She has designed over 300 productions ranging from small, intimate shows to large-scale musicals. Her training also includes studying anatomy and life drawing at the prestigious Art Student League of New York as well as additional classes in watercolors and painting. Professor Jaremki's academic design credits include A Little Night Music, Romeo and Juliet, Taming of the Shrew, Tartuffe and Ghosts. A recipient of the American College Theatre Festival Meritorious Award for Costume Designs for Dancing at Lughnasa, Professor Jaremki continues to design professionally. Some of her more recent professional credits include costume designs for Indiana Repertory Theatre, Illinois Shakespeare Theatre, Whitewater Opera, Monsanto Corporation and Minute Maid.
